To the Reader.

WE cannot but presume, that if thou art either Native of England, or of English Extraction, thou art well satisfied upon what just and necessary grounds and foundations, His Majesty of Great Britain undertook this present War with the Dutch, in vindication of his own just rights, and the many injuries offered by them to his Subjects, the Merchants of England, in all or most parts of the World: and withal, how willing and inclinable he hath been hitherto for accommodation of these present differences; but how perverse and obstinate the Dutch have been towards any Reconciliation, is evident to the whole World, unless themselves might be their own Judges, or wholly domineer at Sea, and assume these just Rights, which have for many hundred years been invested in the Regal Power of the English Kings and Crown: notwithstanding all their stubbornness and their wilful Actings, His Majesty of England out of his good Nature and Clemency, and willingness to spare the effusion of Christian blood, condescended to a Treaty of Peace at Cologne, and accepted of Mediators, sent his Plenipotentiaries to All there accordingly, two very worthy and judicious Persons, who will with all prudence & fidelity manage the Trust imposed on them for the Honour of His Majesty, and Advantage of this Nation.

It is true His Majesties Naval Forces have three times engaged the Dutch, in 1673. and not without effect, even upon their own Coasts, they for some time not daring to peep out of their Harbours, nor stir further than their Sands protected them; they brag of Victory or Victories; but their many wounded Sea-men and all to be rattered Ships in all the Engagements, might have better assured them, the English had the Victory, and were not either put to flight, or routed by them, as their lying Gazettes set forth, to omit the two first Engagements; in the last Fight in August, as their Letters confess, they lost and had wounded fifteen hundred Sea-men; after which Fight, His Majesties Fleet kept the Sea near the Holland Coasts ten or twelve days, lost not one Ship, only by accident one small Yatch: Yet it is certain, they lost two Ships of 60 or 70 Guns apiece, as some that were in that Engagement have affirmed, who saw them sink. If they are not yet sensible of Gods Judgments against them, in time they will; and not give thanks for pretended Victories, when they are so well beaten, as they now were.

But all is believed, whatever the Dutch either say or write, by many malecontented English Spirits, whose Monies are lodged in Amsterdambank, its pity their persons are not there, as well as their hearts and Treasure.

And now, that the great God of Heaven hath excited the King of England to chastise the Dutch Nation, for their injuries and insolencies offered not only to his Royal Predecessors, but scandalizing his Sacred Person, and for abusing his Subjects the Merchants in all parts of the World; now, we say and do conclude, for any English men, who have his Majesties protection, or that live in his Dominions, enjoying their Liberties by his Majesties Special Grace and Favour; for such persons, to patronize the Dutch quarrels, to rejoyce at their successes, to divulge untruths for upholding these Bugbears, and discouraging the English, these people, we say, rather discover themselves to be of a Bastard Breed, than descended of the true English Race: but we leave them to be scourged by their own follies, until God shall open their eyes to see better things. What care and prudence his Majesty hath used and taken in this year, by chargeable Convoys to secure the Merchants Ships outward and homeward-bound, the several Returns of the Colliers Fleets from Newcastle, the regaining of St. Helena, the safe Arrival of many Ships from the East India's, Barbadoes, and many other parts, of which not only the Merchant, but the Nation will feel the sweet: these, we say, might satisfy any prejudicial person, that his Majesty is blessed in these his Undertakings by the Almighty God; and that these his vigorous Actions are ordained by an high hand of Providence, against which there is no resisting; for as he came to his Throne miraculously, so in fulness of time his Undertakings will be as admirable for the benefit and honour of all his Subjects living under his Protection,

Astrological Judgments

For the Year, 1674.

By William Lilly Student in Astrology.

WE hold it not impertinent, but convenient to our purpose, in the first place, to make mention and relate the present, most material, and important Concernments and Affairs of most Princes and Kingdoms in Europe, as in the present month of August 1673. whilst we are writing how their affairs and condition stand.

The Monarch of Great Britain, and the most Christian King of France in friendship and amity, both of them engaged by Sea and Land against the insulting Hollanders, His Majesty of France having in this Summer taken from them that considerable Town of Mastrieht, for some years in their possession. The Naval Forces of His Majesty of Great Britain united with the French Fleet, having three times engaged the Dutch, twice within their own Sands, and the last Engagement the 11th of August, 1673. inforced them into their Harbors, Sands and Creeks; soundly beaten, shattered, & torn, some of their best Ships sunk, others so disabled, that they were inforced by pure necessity to steal home under the curtain of the night; so that they have had no cause to publish a day of Thanksgiving for their Victory or Victories; but as judicious and wise men say, and with more probability of truth, that their days of Thanksgiving were celebrated, not for Victories obtained against the English and French, but for their Deliverance from their two Majesties Forces in all the three Fights : with as good reason might they therefore have appointed a day of Thanksgiving for the taking of Mastrieht and loss of four East India Ships.

Denmark and Sweden at present enjoy Peace, God long continue it. The Spaniard, fearful of his Majesty of France his many successes so near his Provinces, both underhand and manifestly assists the Dutch with all the assistance he can well spare. The Elector of Brandenburg having assisted the Hogens against France, perceiving his error, hath made his peace with his most Christian Majesty, is now quiet, and leaves the Dutch to their own apparent misfortunes : an happy Prince he was in so doing, and more happy had he been, if he had never joyned with them at all. The Polander surmising, and not without cause, an Invasion from the Turks. The Emperour of Muscovia offers assistance to the Polish King against them. Its not long since that Emperour escaped a formidable Rencontre from a Rebel of his own Dominions, not by valour, but treachery of the Rebels Confidants ; but now he may give occasion not to a Rebel, but to the powerful Turk and thievish Tartar, seriously and in good earnest to enter his Territories, which in time they will, for from the Tartars, great vengeance will assault the Muscovian Dominions. The Duke of Savoy and State of Genoa seemingly reconciled, and all differences concluded or determined by Mediation of the most Christian King.

The Emperour of Germany, molested by the Hungarians, and as our Gazettes write, in the head of an Army for relief of the Hollander ; its late in the year, the success of his Forces may be doubted. Some such thing was talked of last year, but frustrated. The Hollander pufft up with pride in great expectation of an Imperial Army, for their present assistance, or diversion of his Majesty of France his Forces from further entrance into their Territories : — thus, or something near this Relation, the European peian Affairs are at present, unless we add, that by Mediation of his Majesty of Sweden, both the King of England and of France have sent their Plenipotentiaries unto Cologne, to determine the differences betwixt both their Majesties and the Hollander, if possible: God direct all Councils tending to the peace and welfare of Europe; these things first premised, we say, That so great and manifest Alterations, Wars, and other unexpected Contingencies, as have of late or in few years fallen out in Europe, or had beginning in or near 1672. or some years before: We say, these miraculous Actions may deserve a short Memorial, as near as we can discover, from what prodigious Comet or Comets, or other Secondary Causes these Mutations might have a beginning, which may in time disorder the general Affairs of Europe, if not prove very formidable to the most part of the habitable World.

It is not unknown to the Learned, that in the year 1652. new Star appeared in Cassiopeia about the 10th of November, some write sooner, viz. about the 20th of October: such an one as no Age preceding had observed the like. For as the Learned of that time say, It appeared suddenly from the very beginning of an equal magnitude, contrary to the first appearance of all Comets. It was clear and bright all the time of its appearance, sparkling or twinkling, as the Planets do. Its place, in respect of the Primum Mobile, was exactly in the beginning of Aries, some say about the middle thereof. It remained in its seat or place without Motion all the time of its continuance, which was above one whole year. As to the degree of the Zodiack, it was in 6 degrees of Taurus, and some minutes: in greatness, it exceeded the fixed Stars of the first Magnitude, and seemed for the most part to be equal unto Jupiter. Thus Appianus in his Letter to the Landgrave of Hessen, concluding with this Prediction or Judgment— Bellum, Magnorum Potentium mortes, mirabiles Regnorum & Politiarum mutationes— at quo diutius visi fuerunt, & magis fixi manserint (ut ille de quo agimus)

eo vehementiores fore effectus, seq; in aliquot sequentes annos extendere solent; viz. This new Star portends War, the death of great Persons, wonderful alterations of Kingdoms, Government of Cities or Commonwealths; & by how much the longer these like new Stars are visible and more fixed (as this new Star of which we write) so, thereby they manifest the more continued effects, and are wont to operate after some Series of time, or many years after their first appearance: But we will come to mention those solid Judgments of the incomparable Tycho, who herein exceeded all that ever wrote of this New Stars significations. It cannot be doubted, but that this New Star was of purpose created, for manifestation of future events unto the World, which were to be visible in its due time; for Non statuendum est, Deum & Naturam talibus noviter formatis corporibus, inaniter ludere, nihilq; presagii mundo ostendere: We must not imagine, that God and Nature do in vain create such new Bodies, or to play withal, and to have no presage of the things of this World; it was apparently visible almost all over the World, and continued fixed all the time of its appearance, which may well occasion all the Inhabitants of every Nation to believe; that the Portents and things signified by it, would be long ere they manifested themselves upon Earth; therefore sith its now one hundred years since its manifestation, we may expect some beginning of those mutations it was the Prodromus of, but not the full determination of them for many years, yet subsequent; for as we do not read in any Author of the Production of such a Star, or of such continuance ab origine mundi, viz. from the beginning of the World; so it must certainly be the Portent of such miraculous Accidents as Mankind hath not yet been acquainted with; of which Judgment the learned Tycho was: Sic etiam, nunc præcipuam quandam, & maximam administrationum politicarum innovationem subsequentibus sæculis inguere. So also now, this new Star portends a singular and very great innovation

tion in the administration of Political matters, in the subsequent Ages or Times. And he gives his Judgment wherefore this new Star should manifest such transcendent Actions— Quemadmodum enim stella hac rarissimum exhibuit miraculum, & præter omnium hominum expectationem, quasi ex improvise cœlitus exstabat; sic quoque rarissimos & ingentes atque improvise effectus habiturum. For even as this New Star did exhibit a most rare and unusual Miracle suddenly, even beyond the expectation of all men or Mankind, when it appeared in the Heavens; so also it is very probable, it shall have unexpected, rare, and most unlooked for events, mighty in effects and operation, to the great astonishment of those who then shall be Spectators thereof. And as it was in a manner conspicuous to all the habitable parts of the Earth, being placed in the eight Sphere above all the Orbs of the Planets, so it did not include any one part of the Earth; Sed potius ejus superficiem, omniaque terrestriis mundi Regna suis decrevis— but rather all its superficies, or even the very outsidess of the Earth were to be concerned in its effects, as well as the internal parts which are most inhabited, or have been formerly, all Kingdoms in due time shall be sensible of its decrees; and those to continue for many years, or a long space: which although they were to be manifested slowly, and after many years, or some Ages, yet shall those determinations be effective, Diuturniores magisque constantes, of longer continuation, and more constant: Why may we not attribute the subversion of the China Empire by the Tartars, Anno 1646. to have been hereby presignified, being the most ancient and of the longest continuance of any Empire ever was in the World? for the Chinois do affirm, they have Records for some thousand years before other Nations, and they say, that their years consist of Solar years, viz. one of their years consisting of an Ecliptical Revolution of the Sun, viz. 365 days and some hours, being the same with us in Europe: but sith the Jesuits, who now live in China, do not find amongst them them any able or learned Mathematicians, we may question their Epiche concerning either the beginning or continuance of that Empire. We hope God Almighty will so preserve those Regions of Europe bordering upon the Tartars, that they shall not conquer, or over run by them: and set up their barbarous Trophies in any part thereof. But this by way of digression: We further say, and do probably conjecture according to the acute and sharp Judgment of Tycho and many other Learned men; upon this new Star, that when its effects begin to operate (as for these two last years, or something sooner they have done, and for many subsequent years will continue) that after many sharp Wars had, and determined or ended, that then the World shall find and enjoy quietness, such as yet hath not been in any Age: Pacificum quoddam & concors seculum aliquandiu futurum, a most peaceable and quiet Age or World shall be in all parts of the Earth: In quo Politicarum administrationum & varietatis religionum tumultuaria confusiones transmutabuntur, & ad divina voluntatis conformiorem Analogiam adaptabuntur. When the fulness of time is come, and these fierce Wars are ended, and these many conflicts determined, in all or most Nations, then shall ensue a peaceful and harmonious World, in which the tumultuary confusions in Politick and Religious administrations shall be changed, or quite altered, and be fitted to a more conform Analogie of the Divine Will or Truth. God grant this in few years.

If any wonder or cavil at the length of time, or the many years since this new Star appeared, that no greater Mutations have been, or such as the subversion of Kingdoms, Torques, and Dignities, &c. let them well consider, that even those Prophecies mentioned in the sacred Scriptures, or many of them did not come to be fulfilled, but after a long Series of time and years; we shall instance in the long continuance of the Israelites in Egypt three hundred years or more, but then in fulness of time those people received their miraculous deliverance: so after seventy

seventy years expiration, the people of Israel returned from their Captivity, as it was foretold them by many of their Prophets. It's not unknown to the Learned, how Hierom of Prague, about the year 1415. when he was put to death, prophesied thus to his Judges: Et cito vos omnes, ut responderis mihi coram altissimo & justissimo Judice post centum annos,— viz. I cite you all, that you answer me before the most high and just Judge after one hundred years. Those hundred years being ended, we know Luther began, and after him many other Divines, to oppose the Church of Rome. Prophecy is not yet ceased, but in all Ages some Holy men have been indued with it since the death of Christ.

There

Astrological Judgments.

There being no Planet Angular, except F in the 4th we may not give Judgment of any great Actions either at Sea or Land during this Winter quarter, viz. from the 10th of December, until the Spring quarter following. What may be deduced from the several and various Configurations which follow, we will more amply manifest in our monthly Observations of 1674. In this Scheme or from this Positure of Heaven, we do conjecture, that of late many Differences and Controversies have been managed occultly and fraudulently, to the great prejudice of those Kingdoms and Commonalties, where such people live as are subject unto that Sign Mars is in or unto the whole watry Trigon: but whether these hypocritical or furious Spirits, are now either wearied, or tired, or perfectly discovered, and their unnecessary dividing Projects, or ashamed of their former attempts and disturbances, things begin to look more amicable, many sober wise persons balancing, and overpowering the animosities and peevish juglings of those Quondam zealous and over fierce Spirits, who endeavoured upon mistaken Axioms and unsound Principles, to have subverted the peace and tranquillity of those Nations where they inhabit, or to thwart that Authority they live under, which gives them as well as others protection, by buzzing into the whimsical ears of impertinent Auditors and curious News mongers, their own surmises, fancies, fears, and jealousies, purposely created for self ends; but time hath now discovered their erroneous mistakes, to the great happiness of those Nations and the people thereof, who now only adhere unto prudent Counsellors, viz. such as ground all their Actions and Principles intentionally, to support and maintain the fundamental Laws of Nations, and Priviledges of the People.

Near unto the entrance of the Sun into Capricorn, there is manifested much variety of weather, and it harmful and very unseasonable, tending for the most part to Snow or Rain, or to very hard Frosts afterwards, sudden Floods, Deluges

Astrological Judgments.

Deluges of Waters, and great Inundations in many Countries East and North-East from England, many Edificies, Houses. Buildings will be destroyed, and part of some Countries in a manner depopulated: The greater Cattel are like to suffer by strange and sudden Deluges of Waters, or irruption of the Sea-banks where they feed, some die for want of convenient or wholesom food, and indeed we much fear a kind of mortality will surprise and destroy many of our own Country-mens greater Cattel, viz. Oxen, Cows, Horses; or are the lesser Cattel to speed much better, viz. the harmless Sheep, Goats, &c. a great Rot is threatned to fall upon them. Seemingly the malevolent Configurations of this Quarter do foreshew many sicknesses and distempers shall afflict Mankind the whole Winter. Viz. Quinzies, Kings Evil, Wens, Swellings in the Throat, Gonorrhœa's, French Pox, overflowing of the Menstrua's in Women, Swellings of the Legs, Thighs, Dropsies, Tympanies, Surfeits, all manner of Diseases lodging in the Reins and Secrets; the most of these proceeding from the corruption of ill Air and unwholesom Diet; some by Drunkenness, others by over-much Lechery and Wantonness. Its probable, $\text{\textcircled{J}}$ being now ready to transire out of $\text{\textcircled{m}}$ into $\text{\textcircled{f}}$, may take his leave of the Hogens with a vengeance. $\text{\textcircled{h}}$ in the 4th manifests no settling of any Councils in peace, without Gods great mercy, or his restraining of wilful Spirits; but we hope well of the Affairs of his Majesty of England, notwithstanding the malice of external and internal Enemies.

The benevolent Aspects both of the superior and inferior Planets preceding this Ingress, do signifie the strong endeavours and pains of many judicious and honest Patriots in several Countries and Kingdoms, to reconcile the apparent Controversies amongst the Grandees of Europe; but we are doubtful of their abilities to perform of conclude them. We fear that God Almighty hath determined to put into execution some further vengeance and calamities against many People and Nations, or set on foot unexpected and continual Wars, for the sins and transgressions both of the Magistrates and Common people, who having had many warnings and admonitions of his Judgments, continue stedfastly in their former transgressions notwithstanding; whereby we may judge, they are reserved for a future and more severe Judgment, when time shall come, as it will, even very suddenly. For we find, there is in being a cunning and obstinate people, never contented, who set all their Wits at work to impede peace and quietness by strange Quicks, Politick Devises, Forgeries, and Surmises, except their new fangled and self en ded

Astrological Judgments.

Self-ended Councils may be held, for Oraculous and Orthodox, and themselves reputed the only Primum Mobile of this World.

The two malevolent Planets have most predominancy in our Vernal Position, and there is mutual reception between them, but no perfect Aspect within Orbs, how fairly things seem carried on for friendship and mutual agreements, and yet how many fraudulent Designs are in agitation near these times? Articles, Covenants, Leagues controverted, in those Countries especially subject unto the two Signs ♄ and ♀ are in, from hence no good can be expected, because both these Planets are of no good signification to Mankind, ♄ denoting scarcity, poverty, penury, wants, and mundane impoverishments in the Common mans purse, as well as in his Superiors; ♀ signifieth Contentions, Wars, Ruptures of Leagues, Devastation of Mankind by the Sword, Fire, Duels, Animosities, Discords, secret Conspiracies, impoverishment of the Commonalties, Beggery to many prime Towns, Cities, and Countries Eastward from England. The Retrogradation of ♄ in the 11th House, in the Lunation succeeding the Ingress, acquaints great Princes of much falseness in their Allies, much treachery in many of their pretended Friends, Servants, Counsellors, Officers in Command both by Sea and by Land: by means whereof, few of many designs come to be well managed, or unto that perfection as was designed. From hence, viz. the male signification of ♄ and ♀ are in the Microcosm signified, Accidentia gravia & durabilia, & quod apparebunt & manifestabunt illa significata; Very enormous accidents and very durable are signified manifestly to appear unto most Nations, where the people are subject unto either of these Signs, in which the two Misfortunes are posited. We know the last Comet appeared in the Sign where now ♄ is, and will be for one whole year and more.

These malevolent Significators, viz. ♄ and ♀, signifie Detrimentum atq; debilitatem Magni, seu Præsidiū, atq; Divitum

divitum & nobilium qui sunt apti Regno: viz. It is signified in some Kingdoms or Countries, that some Great Man, or a President, or Governour of a Province or Fort, Town, City, or Castle, shall be subject to great over-sight, scandal, or reproach, and it denotes such as may in time expect Governments, High places, or to be in Supreme Authority, shall also suffer in reputation: Et quod minuetur & annihilabitur fides atq; religio: That the Faith and Religion many profess, shall be disesteemed and little regarded; this may have relation to some particular Judgments near England, and to others in Foreign parts and Nations: Erunt latrones multi, multiplicabuntur bella, & contentiones: There will be too many Highway-men or Thieves, Wars shall be multiplied, and Controversies very frequent. Et erunt rixæ inter homines plus solito: Men will be given or inclined to wrangling and go to Law, more than formerly. Et etiam inter Religiosos, & invidiant se invicem; Those who profess themselves Saints, or would seem more Religious than others, shall be subject to malign, and impugn such as are of contrary Opinions to their own, betwixt such Judgments and their Professors, much contention and many debates shall arise, one party envying another, all raising particular Factions in defence of their Tenents, which if really examined, perhaps would not prove Orthodox to the Authority those Churches they live under established, for many Ages past by Martyrs and Godly learned men. But sith the last Comet of 1672. appeared in Aries, and passed into Taurus by its direct motion, we do not improbably collect but that a great scarcity is intended, and may now suddenly appear, great detriments to Husbandry, and much mortality amongst Cattel. And as \hbar is the supremest of all the Planets, so he signifieth in this word the Greatest of Men, and the most potent Persons of Nations, concerning whom we only say, That they will find more difficulty in the management of their Affairs in this year than was expected; for the last of those Comets of 1664. disappeardisappeared in Aries, having a long and large red Tail of very great extent, pointing East, viz. to the Hollanders Provinces, and other adjacent Countries thereunto; intimating Wars, Bloodshed, Fire, and Destruction; (part of which we have seen verified) within these few years; some seven years since, viz. the great Conflagration of the City of London, which indeed was very materially signified rather by the Comet of 1652. and had beginning or its first apparition in or near the 10th degree of the Sign Gemini: which occasioned us in our Anglicus 1654. to say, That the greatest calamity of all, would in the end fall upon the City of London, and such as in no Age could be parallell'd, or words to that purpose we then expressed, &c.

But as to the first effects, from that Comet of 1652. and those others in 1664. and this last of 1672. we say they are not yet determined, but are at present in Action, and shall in the succeeding years be more visible, more fierce and cruel than any other Comets or Blazing-Stars in many years preceding: For as the Comets in 1664. passed through all the Northern Signs, viz. half the whole Zodiack; therefore it may rationally be conjectured, and not without great probability of truth, that most part of the habitable World, before the effects of these Comets are determined, shall in one kind or other partake of much affliction, some by Wars and desolation of their Kingdoms and Countries, others by famine, scarcity, commotions, invasion of Enemies: for we cannot conclude, that the late present Wars, are all that shall be signified from them, we expect change of Empires, whole Cities and Towns their Priviledges subverted, and many other contingent Calamities, such as no Age hath seen the like. The Ax is laid to the root of the Tree, God calls for repentance, man continues his sins, &c.

If we well consider the last Comet of 1672. wherein the colour of it was Saturnine for the most part, he signifieth Dolores longinuos secuturos, atq; ex isto timorem &c.

mortem: Saturn manifests long lasting miseries, and from the occasion death and mortality unto Mankind, even such distempers, such scarcity, such impoverishment as shall astonish whole Mankind. In our Vernal Figure we find Mars near the Ascendant in an humane Sign; Ergo detrimentum in hominibus; thereby is signified the greater mischief unto Mankind: Et plus in senibus et vilibus; old men of great quality and the vulgar man, shall all lament, this for that he hath lost a son or near relation, the Husbandman, because he hath no fruitful Crops of Corn, and worst of all, the Souldier feeds on what he had provided for his own maintenance and his Families. These and such like calamities will befall in many Countries and Provinces, both in Germany, the Spanish Dominions, the Holland Provinces; or will the French Dominions, or such Countries as are subject unto his Government, be in any better condition?

In our present Revolution, Saturn is Lord of the Ascendant, and Jupiter of the 10th and 11th Houses, so that the furious Planet Mars disposeth both of Υ and χ . From hence we may not expect any perfect Peace, but a further progress in Wars, some Nations being proud, others powerful in Armies and Men, all generally declining Peace, and so prepare for further tryal of their successes, good or ill.

Mercury makes haste to the Conjunction of Saturn, a moveable Sign, and Sol applies to a * of Mars, in Signs of short Ascensions, these signifie very little to the Accommodation of the great Controversies in Europe: Shadows and vulgar reports may hope after a Reconciliation, or a probability infused into the peoples minds, that such things are in agitation. Mercury unto the body of Υ , gives many disturbances in the Councils and Transactions of the present Times, especially how to provide money, or a supply for the necessitous occasions then coming on; which require large Sums to furnish all conveniences for so grand emergencies, as probably are like to ensue in this succeeding year.

Hea-

Astrologital Judgments.

Heavens seem to provide for our Sovereign King Charles the Second, both Men, Money, and Ships; which if so, then as the old Prophecy relates, Timendum est per universum Orbem; let him be well assisted with Treasure, and then his Forces will be feared all over the World. By the preceding Aspects, it is very probable, transcending Designs are on foot for managing this Summers Actions: And these are to be of the nature of Saturn and Mars, he viz. Mars being Lord of the 9th, and so disposeth of ♄ in m, and of ♀ and ♁ as now posited in ♋. From hence we may determine, that the Wars of Nations now impending are not yet determined, either at Sea or Land; but that there are greater provisions making for a longer continuance of them some longer time, yea so long, until the proud Hollander submit unto the high Monarch of England: whom they have most scornfully abused with their Pasquils, and other not to be suffered indignities.

Saturn is malus per naturam, and being joyned with Mars (who disposeth of three Planets) his influence may be more feared, and so both that evil signified by Saturn and also Mars may be effective. Those signified by Saturn, are the impoverishment and hardships the vulgar man or Husbandman may suffer; and those by Mars declare the tumultuous and unruly Souldier in his transiting from one Country to another, shall much waste those provisions, laid up in store for more welcome Guests. These calamities and other Actions signified by both the Malevolents, shall be famous in those Kingdoms, Countries, Cities, and Towns subject to Cancer, Libra its opposite sign, and Capricorn. But above all, in regard Saturn is now transiting the sign opposite to Libra, wherein the first Comet of 1664. did first appear, the German Emperour and those Princes, who either are in the Limits of Germany, or border upon it, are most concerned. There, and in those Countries; Paucitatem annona, tribulationes multa, mortem animalium: There will be great scarcity of provisions, many tribulations, great mortality sity of their greater Cattel. Were not the effects of so many Comets, as of few years since have been, coincident and operating in this year, and also that Prophecy, we formerly mentioned, and the Dutch not sufficiently chastised, we should not from the Revolution of the Sun, have conjectured such dire effects as we do.

As Mars is placed in the 12th House; Significat ingenia in latrocinis, & in his similibus, &c. Men will set their wits on work to steal and purloin, or shew great conning and dexterity in such like pranks; the Souldier to steal from the Country-man, the Pirate from the Merchant, all waiting opportunities to do mischief; some surprize a Town or Towns, Cities or strong Holds by treachery, under pretence of friendship, or to secure the Inhabitants.

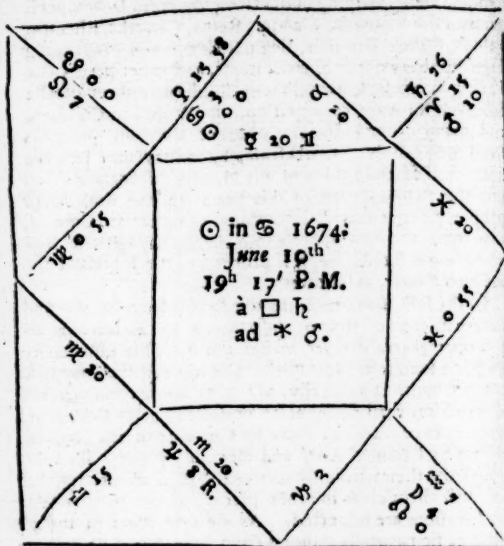

Et significat mœrorem & tristitiam venturam causa magnorum animalium, tam illorum quæ equitantur, quam illorum quæ non equitantur: Many Countries shall suffer much damage, sorrow, and tribulation in their greater Cattel, not only by diseases arising amongst them, but by Plunder, and forcibly taking them from their Owners, as well those which have been used in service any way, as others which yet have not been trained up to any labour, &c.

Astrological Judgments.

—The sicknesses of this Spring quarter; being generally signified to be, Gripping of the Guts, Venerean Distempers, pains in the Stomach, Bladder, Reins, Catarrhs, Rheums, Palties, Colick, Dropsies, Slegmatick Diseases proceeding from stoppage of the Sinews, Reins, and other parts; the Falling-sickness, Convulsions in Children, Fluxes of the Stomach for want of digestion, the Worms in Children, and many other Diseases, whereof the cause proceeds from Melancholy. Let Diseases be as they may be, we hope well of the Affairs of his Majesty of England; but sith the manifestation of this years Actions doth more properly depend upon the influence of the late Comets, than upon the Suns Ingress into Aries, though the Sign ascending is fixed, we will proceed to the Ingress of the Sun into Cancer, as followeth.

In the full Moon preceding the Sun his Ingress, we find Saturn in the 10th House; Infortunium & malum ejus superveniet generaliter per multas terras: This unfortunate Position manifests great misfortune and evil shall surprise many Countries generally, viz great sorrow and manifest destruction shall depopulate or destroy many Countries, Provinces or Nations, some by Captivity of the Natives, others by Famine, War, and Mortality; many shall depart from their native Countries and Habitations, and flye or settle themselves in other places, where neither War or Invasions are suspected. As we find Mars in the 9th House, he naturally imports (as now in Aries) Petitionem equorum & armorum causa bellandi & guerrizandi: The Gallantes of Nations shall provide themselves of Horses and Armour, Weapons, and such like, that they may be well furnished for Wars; Et petent homines similiter bella, such brave Sparks shall earnestly desire Wars; Et affectabunt castramentari atque ire in exercitum; they love to lye in Camps, and are wholly intent for War, and to go into Armines, &c. Homines erunt multum infideles & mendaces: Men will be very unfaithful to one another, given much to tales and lying.

finds the two Infortunes to have most to do, or signifie so much in the Figure, and both in a moveable Sign, which manifests, what most men signified by Saturn and Mars will perform, notwithstanding Oaths, Leagues, Promises, in this present year; but herein the Souldier is most concerned, of what quality or degree soever, or in what Nation or Kingdom soever he be where War is, Transcending Actions and Councils are now on foot, or suddenly to succeed; if the Hollanders be not so wise for their

their own good, as ere this to compose their differences with Great Britains King, then near this time, let them have a Thanksgiving for saving some, though not all their Ships from the Naval Forces of his Majesty, but not for a Victory, which belongs not unto them, but to his Majesties Forces.

The Hollanders and their Hogens may near these times, as well as their Confederates, in very good earnest fear Iræ populares, domestick Tumults, Seditions, popular Commotions, Pestem, famem, a great Plague and Famine, not only of provisions for man, but a scarcity of men to furnish their Naval Ships and Fleets, Innovationes multa, many innovations in their Towns, Cities, and in the rustical people; who seeing themselves so deluded by their proud Magistrates, begin to make Insurrections against them.

The Hogens may also themselves see their errors, and may expect, Defectionem multorum ab illis; a sudden declining or defection of many of their Allies, from assisting them; Sed cum reconciliatione luctuosa, if they would be now or near these times reconciled to their former friends, it will be with sad and lamentable conditions. The Diseases of this Quarter subsequent to the Solstitial Ingress, are Apoplexies, Palsies, Madnes, in some persons Dotage, in others remediless pains in the Head, stone in the Reins and Kidnies, Bladder, violent Feavers, the Joynt-gout, Pleurisies, Feavers.

There will be, according unto Hecker, five Eclipses in this year, but not any of any great force or influence, according unto Argol there will be only three: the most considerable, is that of the Moon, the 7th of July, 8^h 43' P. M. the Digits eclipsed are twelve, the duration is three hours 49 minutes, according unto Argol.

This Eclipse hath the same Ascendant both of sign and almost degree, of the ☉ his Ingress into Aries; therefore these accidents signified by that Position, will now be put in execution with a witness; the Moon applies to the Quadrant of Mars and Saturn: very evil significations, and those to continue or to be in force some months succeeding. The middle of the Eclipse is not much remote from the Ascendant, which signifieth Mankind, or the generality of men; therefore from this, we may expect War, Famine, Plague, Tumults, Murders, &c.

This being in Tropick Signs, signifies corrupt Air, much harm to the Summer Corn, and lessens the burden of Fruit; alteration of Offices, or places of Government; the youth of several Nations destroyed by War, &c. It cannot be doubted, but that ♀ is Ruler of the place Eclipsed, as he is Lord of ♄, of the Ascendant, and of the Term

Astrological Judgments.

Term in which the Eclipse is, according to our Method of judging Eclipses printed 1651. we say, when h is Lord of the Eclipse, he is generally the cause of corruption, by reason of cold, more properly he declares continued diseases in the bodies of men, as wasting of the body, or a Consumption, which hath its original from some Deflux of Rheum; he denotes disturbance of the radical humours, Fluxes, Quartan Agues, Banishments, Poverty, Misery, Lamentations, vain Fears, Mortality of Old men especially. A scarcity of such Cattel as are useful for mankind, afflicting those Cattel which escape death with diseases, so that men are infected that use those Cattel, or after the Cattel's death feed on them. In the Air he stirs up most horrible Colds, frosty and icy Weather, cloudy and pestilent, the Air frequently disturbed and molested with unwholesom gusts of Wind, long continued Frosts, thick Clouds, misty foggy Weather, much Darkeness, abundant Snows, nothing profitable, but destructive, from whose corruptions many harmful Creatures proceed.

In the Seas and Rivers commonly he stirs up most violent Tempests, sudden and manifold Shipwracks, difficult Voyages, scarcity of Corn, and a dearth of Fish and Water-fowl. Generally in the Sea, peculiar recesses or back-sliding of the Sea from its former Bounds and Banks, leaving thereby its former Chanel. In Rivers there are great overflowings, violent Inundations, and corruption of Waters. Upon Earth there follows scarcity of Grain, Fruit, and Corn, all things very dear, all manner of provisions scanty and rarely to be gotten, such especially which conduce to the preservation of mans life: destruction of Fruit by Caterpillers, Worms, Locusts. Of Grass and Hay by floods, by immoderate showers, sudden Hail-storms, furious tempests, so that many perish by famine, and such like casualties; and the greater Cattel by the unreasonable getting in of Winter provisions, and the unnatural nourishment of that food they feed upon; much rancour and malice, continued Law-suits do rage amongst amongst the Clowns or vulgar persons. It is the opinion of Protony, when an Eclipse is in the earthly Triplicity (as now) there follows scarcity of Corn, especially of Fruit, and of such things as are annually sown, or put into the Earth. And as this Eclipse is in Capricorn, it denotes Olives to be devoured by Locusts or Worms, many Ships drowned, alteration in mens manners or conditions, peculiarly in those Cities or Countries subject unto the Sign where the Eclipse is; and as it now falls out in the third Decanat of Capricorn, it manifests Mutinies, Conspiracies in the people subject to the said Sign. This may prove true, in regard that this Eclipse falls out to be in the last part of the third Asterism of Sagittarius: we might insist further concerning these Wars now extant, and their Original, and long continuance, and some other more wonderful change, than is yet already apparent, from the removal of the Aphelium of Mars into Virgo, which according to Cardan, is every two thousand years. We might also have taken notice of the profections both of the last minor Conjunction of h and v , and of the Comet 1664. which began in \approx — the profection of the one and the other, comes to be now the Sign Scorpio— from whence Wars are to be expected. The Aphelium of Mars in 1652. was one minute and 58 seconds of m .

Seeing many of our Observations intended for this years Anglicus 1674. will not be admitted Impression, by reason of the present Conjunction of Affairs, as they now stand; we have thought it convenient to insert what follows, for the benefit of those Astrologers or others who have in their possession, that Book of the Collections of Johannes Eschuidus Anglus, sometimes of Merton Colledge in Oxford, printed at Venice 1489. that hence they may insert into their Books this leaf, wholly therein left out: viz. in Page 188. the fourth Column, and Line the 18. Et si conjuncti fuerint in sexta, significat impedimenta pervenientia ad animalia, & ad omnia quadrupedia quibus utuntur homines, ut sunt Asini, Vacca,

Vaca, & Cameli. Et si conjuncti fuerint in decima, significat destructionem Esse Regum, & divitum, & mortem magni regis. Et si conjuncti fuerint in duodecima ab Ascendente, significat impedimentum descendens in omnia quadrupedia, & cadet tribulatio & impedimentum in omnibus venditoribus bestiarum. Et hæc omnia erunt in regionibus quæ sunt sub divisione Signi in quo conjunguntur. Et intellige ubi junguntur in aliquo Signo in termino alicujus Planetæ, & erit pars tribulationis, in civitatibus quæ sunt in divisione illius Planetæ: Hæc Albumasan. Et dicit Hermes in Libro de Floribus, quod si ♃ fuerit in revolutione anni, in propria domo vel exaltatione, liber à malis & Orientalis & in Angulo, penuriam annonæ significat. Et in quodam libro cujus Authoris nomen ignoratur inveni sic: Cum volueris segetum præcognoscere eventum in singulis annis: Considera ☿ & Solis & Lunæ in capite Anni, antequam ☉ intrat in caput ♊, & apta ascendens eadem hora ☿ vel ☿, & considera Dominum Ascendentis, & vide quis Planeta sit Almuten, & qui in figura habeat majorem vim & aspiciat Ascendens; quod si Almuten non aspiciat Ascendens, vide quis Planeta aliàs habet posse in Ascendente, & aspiciat Ascendens; si verò nullus Planeta habeat vim in Ascendente, aspice Ascendentis Dominum ubicunque fuerit. Sed si aliquis fuerit in Ascendente, sive habeat vim, sive non in eo: omnibus his omisissis, ipsum solum accipias. Quemcumq; verò cœperis, vide si fuerit crescens in sua notitia, & tunc triticum, & ea quæ pertinent ad triticum, erunt chara: sed si fuerit minuens in sua notitia, hæc eadem erunt vilia. Et si fuerit in medio Cœli, & sit crescens, erunt multum chara; & si fuerit in Ascendente, similiter, sed non tantum.

In quarta verò vel septima si fuerit, non erit annona chara: in secunda vel quinta neque chara: in tertia vel octava parum chara. Et si ille Planeta fuerit ascendens in circulo parvo, vel in circulo puncti, erit inopia victualium plus; & si descenderit, minus chara erunt victualia, quod quod scies si fuerit prope locum suæ altum. Quod si Planeta quem habes, dederit vim alteri, relicto illo, accipe superiorem cum quo operaberis prædicta.

Item considera cum Luna exit à Coniunctione vel Oppositione Solis secundum quod quilibet illarum fuerit propriè ingressum Solis in caput ♀. Si tunc Luna dederit vim alicui Planetæ in ☿ vel aspectu, quia si Planeta cui dederit vim, fuerit fortuna, erit multum de tritico, vel infortunabitur triticum secundum fortitudinem Planetæ infortunantis. Et eodem modo considera Coniunctionem vel Oppositionem Solis & Lunæ, antequam Sol intrat quartas Anni, & eodem modo in unoquoque mense bis, similiter in Coniunctione vel Oppositione. Et si inveneris iudicium capitis Anni idem cum iudicio quartarum & mensium, erit augmentum tritici & victualium, vel diminutio in bono vel in malo.

Hoc etiam considera, quod si ♄ aut ♀ in capite Anni fuerint in Signis igneis, triticum erit charum, cum aliis similibus. Et si fuerint in Signis aeris, erit minus charum. Et si unus fuerit in charo Signo, & alius in non charo, erit res iuxta, & prævalebit abundantia vel inopia secundum quod quilibet eorum erit fortis in capite Anni ex parte Solis & Anguli, & secundum quod habet posse in loco in quo est. Et si ♀ in revolutione Anni fuerit in propria domo vel exaltatione Orientalis & in Angulo, & liber à malis, penuriam annonæ significat. Et si Ascendens Coniunctionis vel Oppositionis, est signum alicujus Civitatis; & cum in Coniunctione vel Oppositione signum alicujus Civitatis, sit in aliquo Angulorum vel Signum in quo fuerit Almuten sit signum alicujus Civitatis, vel locus h vel ♀: Sciendum quod si quilibet eorum fortis, erit in principio Anni in illa Civitate, plus apparebit quod diximus in bono vel in malo: hæc ibidem.

Et dicit Messahali in libro suo de revolutione Annorum Mundi, Cap 3 Aspice ☿ capitis & h, quia significat secundum substantiam Signi in quo junguntur detrimentum & malum, sicut significatur in Eclipsi Luminarium. Nam cum cū fuerit ☿ eorum in ♀ vel in ejus triplicitate, erit in arboribus & herbis, & pauca erit pluvia & annona. Et si conjuncti fuerint in Signis aeriis, invenient homines & aves impedimenta, & stabunt multi venti. Et si fuerit in aquaticis multiplicabuntur locustæ & reptantia terræ. Et aspice in quadrato aspectu mali & Caudæ & conjunctionem eorum, quia significat fortē bellum, & famem, & multitudinem timoris, & erit magnum frigus & multitudo mali. Et si ♄ fuerit conjunctus cum Cauda, significat famem & paucitatem boni, & fortitudinem frigorū, & destructionem arborum, & erit in parte in qua fuerit. Et si Sol combusserit in ea Planetam fortius erit hoc in ea quā in cæteris partibus. Et aspice Planetam quo significatur Rex & esse ejus, & pronuntia secundum hoc, & secundum Planetarum profectionem per singulos dies, ex destructione & penuria vel abundantia de bono vel malo. Post hæc, aspice in receptione luminis ejus, & in ejus pulsatione, quia hoc significat, quod eveniat rusticis; Et ubi supra, Cap. 8. dicit Messiahali, cū fuerit ♄ in Ascendente in revolutione Anni, significat famem, & mortem, & infirmitates vehementes. Et cū fuerit Dominus Anni ♀, & fuerit liber à malis, aspexerintq; cum fortunæ, erit annus bonus & utilis sapientibus & mercatoribus ac pueris, & eò melius si fuerit receptus à Domino domus in qua fuerit: Et si fuerit è contra, dic contrarium. Et cū Luna fuerit Domina Anni, & in Ascendente, & fuerit libera à malis, multiplicabuntur pluvie, & erit multum frigus, & invenient homines multum bonum & gaudium, & eo melius, si fuerit receptio. Et si fuerit ♃ in Ascendente Anni, erit annus securitatis, & aptabuntur res hominum, & præcipuè divitum, & proficient divites. Et si fuerit receptus, inveniet universitas hominum & vulgi à Rege bonum.

Et similiter dicendum est de Venere. Et si fuerit Sol in Ascendente Anni, aut fuerit Dominus Anni, & fuerit liber à malis, gaudebunt divites, & abundabunt bona, & proficient res; si vērò fuerit impeditus, erit hoc quod dixi dixi^o contrario. Et scito quòd esse Anni gravabitur, cùm fuerint mali in circuli superioris parte, & in parte Septentrionali, & maximè si ☿ commiserit dispositionem suam Saturno, quia tunc significat graves res, & prolongabuntur, & apparitionem detrimenti in terra.

Et ubi suprà, Cap. 9. dicit Messabalah, quòd cùm fuerit unus malorum in revolutione Anni in Angulo, & fuerit in Signis terreis directus, significat destructionem arborum & mortem animalium. Et si fuerit ♄ Dominus Anni, & fuerit in ♋, vel in ejus triplicitate Retrogradus destruetur domus substantiarum. Et si fuerit Dominus Anni, & fuerit in Signis terreis, & fuerit in Angulo directus, significat mortem animalium in terra cujus signum fuerit: Et si fuerit Retrogradus, destruentur messes, & semina: Et similiter si fuerit remotus ab Angulo aspiciens Ascendens: Hæc Messabalah.

Et dicit Haly Abenragel, Lib. 8. Cap. 3. Quando Saturnus fuerit in summitate sui Epicycli, & ☽ separatur à Sole, & applicuerit ad eum, in tali statu significat quòd res de natura illius Signi erunt cariores.

Et dicit Hermanus Carintus in suo tractatu de imbribus, quòd quando ☉ ad primum gradum m pervenerit, si ♀ & ♄ Orientales esse contigerint, pluvie erunt in Anni principio, potius quidem si ☽ crescens lumine, in Austrum descendit, ♀ & ♄ respiciens, respiciens, aut saltem dum ab altero separatur & alteri applicet, & undiq; recepta sit in Anni principio pluvias adducit.

Si verò ☽ & hujus stellas à Dominis domorum suarum vel regnorum recipi contingat, ex multiplici imbrium nec inutili redundantia fructus & victualium solvatur ubertas: Hæc ille. Et dicit Haly similiter, Cap. 10. 2^o Quadripartiti Ptolomei: Quodd à Conjunctione vel Oppositione præcedente introitum Solis in caput Arietis, sciemus statum veris quomodo fuerit, scilicet, si in eo erit aër valde calidus, & humidus, vel siccus. Et si fuerit multum calidus, sciemus quod arbores citò emittent folia, & fructus erunt antequam compleantur. Et si fuerit multum frigidus, significat quod arbores tardabunt emittere folia, & fructus qui leves fuerint, erunt multum leviores. Et si fuerit humidus, significat putrefactionem fructuum, & erunt leves multum. Et si fuerit siccus, denotabit quod fructus & alia siccabuntur: Et per hoc scire possumus qui fructus erunt multi, & qui pauci quolibet tempore: Et per hoc etiam sciemus, qui fructus qui multus fuerit erit vilior, & qui modicus erit carior: Et hoc etiam sciatur per navigationes navium, & per securitates itinerum, quia cum sciemus quod naves & itinera fuerint salva, sciemus quod ea quæ trahuntur erunt vilia & boni fori: Et per illud sciemus illud quod accidet civitatibus, & iis quæ deferentur illuc, quod quòd si id quod defertur modicum fuerit, erit ibi carum ubi indigeretur, & ita sciemus res alias. Et pro Caristia fortificabis quatuor Angulos, & stellas, & alias planetas horâ Eclipsis, live Conjunctionis Solis & Lunæ, vel Oppositionis eorum, five alicujus magnæ Conjunctionis Planetarum. Et inspicias ad Angulum Medii Coeli & ad ejus Dominum, & ad locum Solis & ad ejus Dominum; & si fuerit magnæ potentiæ, significabunt caristiam monetarum, & erit vile totum quod emitur de illis. Et si potentia fuerit Ascendentis, & ejus Domini & Lunæ, ac Domini loci sui, significabunt caristiam rerum quæ emuntur, & tritici & hordei, & vilitatem monetarum, & quod medica, mercanda dicuntur à multis ementur. Et si Luna separata fuerit ab infortuna, & iverit ad fortunam post ♀ vel ♂, significat tritici & hordei caristiam. Quoniam Sol & Medium Coeli concordant cum auro, Ascendens & Luna concordant cum Annona, quia similia sunt corporibus, & omnis res cujus significator fortunatus fuerit, erit chara. Et debes scire, quòd aurum concordat cum Sole, & moneta aurea cum Sole, Venere, & Mercurio, cum Venere propter formositatem suam, & cum Mercurio propter ejus scripturam. Et Annona concordat cum Luna: Carnes verò cum Marte propter digladiationem & coctionem, fruges cum Venere propter odorem & dulcorem suum.

JANUARIES Observations. 1674:

THE season of the year permits no great hostile Actions, some small rancounters may be expected where Armies, or Military Forces, are quarter'd.

Many flying reports of Ships and men taken Southward or South East; others give out of losses from the West Indies or Barbados, or those other remote Plantations; part of this ill news may prove true: many endeavors used, for accommodation of present differences, but they seem deceitfully mannaged. Strange weather, and very uncomfortable, sturdy tempestuous winds. Yet here is probability, that the Merchant is not much damnified thereby. The general affairs of most Nations, both at home and abroad, seemingly require quietness or peace; which now begins to be much spoken of: His Majesty of Great Britain Courtted thereunto, from many Princes—— But still an obstinate people either are peevish, or wilfully neglect his gracious intentions: some are blessed with preferment, others strangely slighted, these amongst the great ones of Nations.—

FEBRUARIES Observations. 1674.

Consultations, or great Councils seem to agree well in the beginning of the month, in many parts of Europe: but not long after fears and jealousies molest them to the great detriment of those Princes where such wilful parties appear. The deceitful Hollander seems molested, and in more than ordinary fear that some of his Allies will forsake him; their own people begin to speak high, being pressed with more and greater Taxes than formerly. Et erunt eis disobedientes, they begin to be disobedient to their Superiours: what we say of the Hollander, will also be verified in many other Countries and Kingdoms: Provisions for Sea and Land are much spoken of; we hope his Majesty shall not want assistance from his loving Subjects — The Heavens seem after some little storms are agitated, to bless him and his subjects with unanimity, love and affection, notwithstanding the Dutch Emis-saries, who by their sneaking disciples would contradict it.

Strong indeavours are projected, to disunite the friendship of two most potent Kings and Princes : we hope in vain ; let no English heart fail, or be dismayed upon such reports — Rex Angliæ timendus est per universum orbem. The King of England is to be feared throughout the world ; potestate agente principali — His forces every where will be active, powerful and victorious : still Embassadors or Agents apply to the King of Great Britain, from many Princes, for mediation of peace, or reconciliation of differences : A watry People impede all ; The French King much concerned in his Consults, and cause there is, yet his magnanimous spirit is beyond the threats or malice of his opposites — The German Emperor involved in a labyrinth of Counsels ; what he will do in such a case, a few months will produce : Generally, all things tend to War — The London Merchants have good returns, or good intelligence from all parts : Heavens bless them. Some Grandees discarded, others advanced. —

Hodiè tibi, cras mihi — The Wheel of Fortune turns round — So it was in all times.

THE resolutions of Princes seem now fixed, and probability of great preparations for War by Sea and Land are making in many Countries. The English more concerned than most other Nations, seemingly all things go fairly on, and an harmonious agreement betwixt King and People: The German affairs at a stand, divisions, and those powerful, do much molest the Consultations of that people. Various reports of losses, of some misapprehensions like to be in Ireland, of some mischief done the Merchants trading to Barbadoes, or those Plantations: a nimble people of their Tongues and Words, from a Mole-hill raise a Mountain: yet it may be feared, some losses by Sea have happened; however not so much or so many as our enemies would have it. Many brave men crossed in their hopes of preferment: perhaps some of them are of the Ecclesiastical Tribe, others of the Legal Function, some are Courtiers, or Servants unto Kings — in whose Courts high divisions arise, to the great disturbance of those Princes: unexpected news and various reports, do much amuse the minds of men.

STrong confederacies are making and concluding amongst several Princes of Germany, Italy and those parts; and so in the Northern parts of Europe: about or towards the middle of this month, where Navies are near, there may be some engagement, and much slaughter: many Soldiers are drawing near one another, these for this King or Prince, these for a nother; yet we do not find any probability of a Battel or set Fight so soon in the year, only great preparations tending thereunto. We may conjecture, and not improbably, that great means are made, for diversion of assistance to the French Monarch, or some Prince his former Ally withdrawing his friendship. The Dutch complain their Confederates supply them slowly, that people seem distressed, His Majesty courted from several parts, we hope he will Ballance Europes affairs. Great hopes of good Trade in London, and of profitable Commerce in foreign parts.

If any engagement be, as it's probable, we hope God will give the English a lusty victory, but it may be retarded till June or July.

THE Spanish Neatherlands threatned with invasion, or some of their Provinces plundered if no worse thing happen: The Hollander provides for the Sea, but the Seamen not at all willing; the English will fight.

Timor vehemens in diversis regionibus, pugna, destructio, impedimentum, mors in hominibus, precipue in viris: An extream fear possesse all mens minds in many Countries, therein there will be Battles, destruction of men, but especially of the most lusty active persons, and such as delight in Wars: Intelligence from most parts of Christendom comes, the most of it, of good import; towards the latter end many falsehoods arise, scandalous reports to terrifie the people, with loss of that Ship, or those Ships; part may be true: but not as the vulgar report would have it.

One Monarch's affairs of late much doubted, begin to be more comfortable, and he nothing dejected as formerly. Germany fears disturbance from a powerful Neighbour King or Prince: the Hollander vexed.

IF God, divert not the course of nature by his merciful Providence, in or near this month, most strange and wonderful Catastrophes will appear. Where Armies are near, great slaughters of men will be, where prepared Naval Forces are, there will be great destruction of men, and Ships; where a Town or City is Beleaguered, there will appear and actually be, great effusion of blood. All or every Nation now concerned in this months Actions, or in the succeeding month: If such like actions be agitated as they are like to be, the Hollander may appoint another day of Thanksgiving, for no victory, but a Deliverance from his Majesties Forces. According to natural causes, the English are promised Victory: and we hope shall have it; The Grandure of France against all opposition stands firm, though some of his many Forces, act not so advisedly, or with that Courage was expected. The German Forces seem to have a Check, notwithstanding their numerous Army, and great assistance. The Princes of Germany at a stand; and so all Germany, for another enemy appears, not formerly suspected, or very near these times may.

AUGUSTS Observations. 1674.

MAny material accidents, which had signification from the male Configurations of the last month, may have effects in this: for such Mutations and of so great concerns, cannot at one instant, appear but leasurely and in convenient time, and as fit matter and opportunity shall direct. Varias mutationes in partibus orientalibus many alterations in the Eastern Regions. Malum futurum, iram, injuriam; many miseries, many controversies, much oppression. Saturn begins to be Retrograde, the affairs of some Princes in an evil condition, those Eastward; we hope happy news will arrive to the English Nation, not only from remote parts, but of some material welcome Actions near home: Many various reports and cross intelligence seems after to be made by ill affected people; but to little purpose.

The Kingdoms of Europe which seem most concerned in or near these times, or Principalities, or Comonwealths, are England, France, Sweden, Germany, Polonia, Lorrain, Ireland: some part of the West Indies, viz. Barbados, part of the seventeen Provinces, those especially which belong to those men called the States of Holland: Which memorable Action shall be made in this month, had its cause from the male Aspects of the last.

SEPTEMBERS Observations. 1674.

THE month begins, with many difficulties in the Councils of Nations, one contradicting an other; the Country-man suffers in many Countries by sad weather, and ranging of Souldiers through one Province or Country into another: A material victory is obtained by some worthy Commander: Where War is, or Armies abroad, there will still be action considerable, either by surprise or surrender of some Town, Castle or Fort. The French Armies promised fair, for it seems, they have unexpected assistance greatly to their advantages: and ere this month is ended, we may have news from the Hollanders, of a Lamentation day, for their ill successes in or near this month. Preferment is preparing for some bold and worthy Commander; some eminent Church-man advanced to an higher dignity, or is the Lawyer less provided for, near this time, preferment is bestowed on some deserving Person and he made a Judge—Heavens bless the City of London with good returns; and preserve them from distempered and repining Spirits.

Here appears a discovery in this years Actions of some eminent Commanders, that have not answered their Princes expectations: so that many formerly in great estimation are now discarded or eased of their Commands.

Significatur enim, quod accident Regibus & principibus anxietates & labores & metus magni ex parte populi, & quod multas de populo in carceribus conjicient, its manifest, that either Princes or prime Rulers of Nations, shall be mightily vexed, and put to great necessities by reason of their Subjects discontents, mutterings and repinings, whereupon many of the popular sort will be cast into Prisons: some for seditious words, others for sowing seeds of division by false and scandalous Intelligence: Strong accusations of one Commander against an other, and there may be in some Nations such accusations, as may occasion many to lose their heads, or lives or at least a suspension from further actings. The French King and Emperour of Germany most concerned in these quarrels. Various lies and scandalous, emitted purposely to disturb the adventurous Merchants: both the Indian and Barbado Merchants — but we hope better tidings come shortly after —

NOVEMBERS Observations. 1674.

M Ars is still in the Retrograde motion, the Souldiery in many parts complain of hard duty, slow payment, want of necessary provisions. The Coasts of Ireland complain of sad tempestuous weather: the Merchant of his losses, yet not so many or so great as was feared.

The Courts of Judicature very much molested with long continued Law-suits, yet some worthy person finds preferment: many are the discontents and fears, jealousies or rumors dispersed this month, though no visible cause is apparent. The Western parts of England seem afflicted with boisterous high storms, prejudicial to the returns of their adventures from remote parts—— The Hollander now and then peeps out of his Creeks and Ports, though for the most part to little purpose.

There appears now many sober resolutions for a general peace: the English King Courted thereunto, most Nations weary of this Summers Actions—— unanimously desire peace, the Spaniard very much, the French not unwilling, the Emperor inclines, having other concerns nearer home, either a new Pope or an old one, acts his part for a general peace.
